TASTING

This wine has notes of spices reminiscent of cinnamon, showing a lot of dark characters of the grape variety. Flavors of chocolate, plum, and cola are complemented by a hint of tree bark. Brilliant winemaking and the absence of sulfites during fermentation have resulted in a creamy and lush mouthfeel, making the wine much more approachable in its youth. On the palate, the style is bolder and denser than other wines from the Bruno Lafon Family, but it is very flavorful and shows great freshness and finesse on the finish.
